

Temujin is proclaimed GENGHIS KHAN ("strong ruler" a "oceanic ruler") at a KURILTAI (great assembly) over all the TURKO-MONGOL peoples in an Alaska-size expanse of desert and steppe.

From the armed groups represented at his enthronement, Genghis forged a mighty army. Surrounded by his most loyal supporters - those destined to become his greatest generals - he divides his forces into units under the command of fealty-sweating tribal Chieftains, mobilized by its charismatic new leader. Genghis's Army is forged into a fighting machine capable of conquering the world around it.
